Training for the Ring.

WHAT JOE GOSS AND GEORGE BROOKE DO AT FORT HAMILTON.

Running, Dieting and Fighting Bladders with Dumbbells to Prepare for their Respective Fights with Paddy Ryan and Donovan.

From the New York Sun.

Joe Goss, the pugilist, who is matched to fight Paddy Ryan for the heavy-weight championship of America and $2,000, on Tuesday, May 18, in Canada, and George Brooke, matched with Mike Donovan for the middle-weight championship of America, to take place on Tuesday, May 11, have taken up training quarters together at a hotel kept by Goss at Fort Hamilton. They have been hard at work in their training quarters for the last two weeks. Goss is groomed by Jack Turner. Goss was recently found muffled up in heavy flannels.

"Well," said he, in reply to a question, "I rise at half past 6 o'clock every morning. After rinsing my mouth out I swallow the yolk of a raw egg. Then I wash my hands and face in white vinegar, take a sponge bath, get a rub down, and wind up with a walk of two miles before breakfast."

"What do you have for breakfast?"

"I am fond of mutton," he replied. "And so I have mutton chops, dry toast, and tea. After resting an hour I put on thick flannel, and take a twelve-mile or fifteen-mile walk. But when I need a sweat I put on two suits of flannel, and take a ten-mile walk, and finish on a run at a brisk pace. Jack Turner strips and rubs me down and gives me a tepid bath. I then put on clean flannels, and, after lying down for an hour, I take dinner. For that meal I take sometimes a leg of boiled mutton, or chicken, or roast beef, or tenderloin, or porterhouse steak, broiled; cabbage, boiled potatoes, and tapioca pudding. My wife generally cooks it. I take also Scotch ale or Bass' ale, toast, and calf's foot jelly. After dinner I rest, and then I kick a football; exercise with the dumbbells, swing clubs, and fight a bladder."

"How do you fight a bladder?"

"Come up stairs and we'll show you," said Jack Turner.

The room is like a gymnasium. Hanging on the walls are boxing gloves and Indian clubs. Dumb bells of all sizes were lying in a corner, while hanging by a string from a beam was a large bladder, full blown. Goss squares at this with a three-pound dumb bell in each hand. He hits it first with the left and then with the right, powerful blows, skipping around it as friskily as a three-year-old colt.

Generally sand bags have been used in this country, but the English trainers recommend bladders. A bladder is so light, and flies about in the air with such uncertain movements, that it keeps the pugilist at his wit's end to strike it at all, and, with the dumb bells in his hands, it draws out all his strength. Goss continued to strike the bladder for ten minutes, and then again descended into the sitting room off from the bar.

As Goss stands stripped, the huge muscles swell out on his arms and legs like bunches of whipcord. His skin is white, which is a good sign. There is not a pimple on him.

"What do you think of his condition?" asked Jack Turner again and again, with pride.

"I weigh 185 pounds now," Goss said, "but I will enter the ring at 175 or 178 pounds. I have seven weeks to train yet, and you can believe me training is no child's play."

"Does fighting the bladder finish your work?"

"Oh, no, bless you! I start off for another slow walk with a stick in my hand, hitting at stones or anything else to amuse myself. On my return I am rubbed down and I receive my supper, which consists of boiled eggs, dry toast, and tea. I go to bed about 9 or 10 o'clock, after taking a bowl of hot gruel and currants."

"Do you think that your age will affect you?"

"Why, no," he replied. "I am glad you asked me, as the newspapers and any number of my friends say that they are afraid I am too old. On the day that I meet Ryan I will show you that there is one good fight left in me yet. You see, what I lose by age I gain by head work. When I was young and in my palmy days, I used to be proud of being able to take a good hammering; but now I know how to give my opponent a good punching and get away without receiving any smashing hit in return. I am only forty-two years of age. In my father's days they used to say that a man was not in his prime until he was forty years old. There was Jim Ward, who was born in 1800, and stood champion of England for fifteen years. When he was forty years old he challenged the giant champion of England, Ben Caunt, to fight him for £1,000 a side, and when he was sixty, after the battle between Tom Sayers and John C. Heenan was over, he offered to bet 1,000 guineas that no man could be produced who could whip him in one hour. The well-known champion of England, Bendigo, in his old days, beat Tom Paddock in a canter. The old boxer, Dan Mendoza, the Jewish champion of England, of 1792, was beaten by Tom Owens in 1820, when each was in his sixtieth year, after a terrific struggle. When Yankee Sullivan and Morrissey fought in 1853, Sullivan was forty-one years old, and made the best fight then he ever fought in his life."

THE NEVADA MONTHLY.

To The Public:

THE UNEXPECTED DEMAND FOR COPIES of the Nevada Monthly, the popularity which the book has already obtained, and a desire on the part of the publisher to add MANY NEW AND VALUABLE FEATURES TO ITS CONTENTS, has induced him to charge a small price for the magazine. This step has been taken after a thorough canvass of the field and a large subscription list. Many new contributors will be added, and the Monthly will be made correspondingly interesting and contain more reading matter. Its mining statistics, stock tables, etc., which will always be found reliable, will alone be, for future reference, while its original sketches from the pens of some of Nevada's and California's brightest writers, its interesting and instructive selections, etc., will make it a welcome visitor to the family circle.

The rates of subscription, commencing with the April number, will be: By mail (postage paid) one year $3 50 " six months " 1 50 Single copies. 25

As an advertising medium, the Nevada Monthly will have no superior, its columns being eagerly read in every camp and mining town in Nevada and adjoining States and Territories. All advertisers will receive from the time their advertisements are inserted a complimentary copy.

REDUCING LOW-GRADE ORES ON THE COMSTOCK.

A very important movement is on foot to extract the low grade ore from the upper levels of the Comstock. The Gold Hill Zinc, which has done the State most valuable service by agitating the matter, says a million or two a month can easily be added to the output of bullion and employment given to from one to two thousand men. The News recommends that the miners take contracts for extracting the ore, and leave the rate of wages on the lower levels untouched. The ore bodies are described as follows:

There are running under the city of Virginia two old tunnels which lead directly into ore bodies of the grade mentioned. One of these is the old North Potosi tunnel and the other the El Dorado tunnel. This latter tunnel runs to the old west streak of ore which extends in the Gould & Curry from the surface to the tunnel level, some 400 feet. The old North Potosi tunnel is but a few feet above the Gould & Curry lower tunnel.

From these tunnels lateral drifts have been run in the vein and cross-cut made, all of which have developed more or less ore which will yield from $15 to $18 per ton. The body which extends from the Gould & Curry croppings on this level through Savage and into Hale & Norcross, of itself has millions of tons, all of which could be easily extracted. In many places old timbers are still standing and sound, and through these chutes could be readily made for running the ore down to the adit levels. Then the ore extends down no one knows just how far, but it is sufficient for the present purpose to consider only that which lies above the line of entrance.

The extent of this ore body south has, so far as we know, never been ascertained. It is certain that in the Hale & Norcross it has as broad a make and is as rich as anywhere else. In fact Hale & Norcross has, for its length, as much of this ore as any mine on the lode. Here is wealth and prosperity for this community waiting for the hand of industry to be reached out and filled to overflowing. Nor is this all or even a fair beginning what lies in the lode. Savage and Hale & Norcross have, on the Sutor tunnel level, 90 feet in width of ore which will assay $15 per ton, and no one knows the length or depth of the ore body. This could be readily run out through the tunnel and reduced.

Chollar and Potosi have any amount running $10 and over on an average. Passing further north and over Hale & Norcross, Savage and Gould & Curry, already mentioned, and there is the old California with its masses of low grade ore. Ophir has immense quantities for hundreds of feet from the surface down. Sierra Nevada has piles on piles and Cedar Hill is lower with gold. There is scarcely a foot of the old Comstock along this north end but what abounds in low-grade ore. Some are a little base but they can be worked with concentration.

Passing from the divide south and everybody knows that in the old Gold Hill group there is yet an abundance of ore of the kind named. Yellow Jacket can dispose of the title of chief in this respect with any mine on the lode. Its supply of ore of this grade is almost exhausted. Crown Point has been to abundance, and so has Belcher and Overman. Nor need the enumeration stop here, only that enough has been said on this branch of the subject to show that the ore is practically limitless.

And now, that the general movement of the mines has led most of them to unite in sinking large east shafts through which to prospect their lower levels, and the time has come when one after another is abandoning the shaft through which operations have been carried on, it would seem that no time so favorable as the present can be found for inaugurating this work. Unused shafts and workings soon get out of repair, and machinery is too worn to be of use. On these facts hinges the desirability of moving at once in this matter.

Perhaps a word on the plan for reducing these open any not be amiss here. It should be on a grand scale. A thousand stamps could be utilized to advantage, and these might be followed by concentrators, so as to reduce the price of milling, twenty tons or so being concentrated into one. If there is not water to be had here at suitable rates, the pulp could be even floated to the river and in the end, the amount being so large, this kind of transportation would not be very expensive.

The requisites for inaugurating this great industry may be enumerated:

First—Wood must be laid down on the Comstock for $7.50, or at most $8 per cord.

Second—Timbers must be delivered at not to exceed $15 per thousand feet. They can be laid down here at $11.50. Third—Laborers in extracting ore cannot be paid over $2.50 per day for the masses and $3 for the bosses. If extracted by contract, the contractors must make up in quantity what they lack in price per ton.

The simple question is: Can these requisites be attained? If so, at least $125,000,000 can be realized to the coast from the low-grade ores of the Comstock.

DAGGETT'S LAND BILL.

The Congressional Committee on Public Lands, in reporting on Representative Daggett's bill for a land grant in lieu of the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections, made the following recommendation: "As your committee understand it to be the purpose of the State to attempt to reclaim the desert and sage-brush lands now asked in exchange for its school grant, through the inducement of special bounties for sinking of artesian wells, and as this seems to be the only method by which purchasers can ever be found for most of these lands, your committee recognize the justice and propriety of the proposed exchange, and therefore report the bill back with the recommendation that it do pass."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Agricultural Committee of Congress were feasted at Delmonico's in New York the other evening by a representative of the oleomargarine interests. Six hundred bottles of wine and 1,500 cigars were consumed by the guests, but the consumption of oleomargarine (artificial butter) did not exceed a quarter of a pound, notwithstanding that several speakers set forth its merits in glowing phrases, and called its manufacturers benefactors of the human race.

A San Francisco dispatch says: The Judiciary Committee of the Board of Supervisors, to whom was referred the task of learning whether Mayor Kallach did or did not use incendiary language in his recent public speeches, have been at work in the matter ever since. The principal question now under consideration seems to be, so far as ascertained, whether or not the Supervisors have the power to impeach the Mayor.

The population of France is decreasing, owing to the gradual lessening of the birth rate. There are two causes of this decrease, a decline in the number of marriages and a lessened production of children. It is stated that one child to each marriage is the average among the peasantry and trades people. The illegitimate births are increasing. There were 67,912 in 1878.

One effect of California's new Constitution has been to induce the Sacramento Savings Bank to wind up its affairs and go out of business. It has been a prosperous institution, but the Directors are convinced that under the new law its business would be ruined by double taxation.

There are two sides to the question of parole disqualification for the Liverpool spring race. A great number of good judges say that he was entitled to the race.

Proposed Removal of the Carson Mint. WASHINGTON, April 20.—Burchard, Director of Mints, appeared before the Coinage Committee, again yesterday, and discussed the subject of the bullion supply, and the capacity of the various mints. To meet the requirements of the maximum coinage under the law, it was decided to prepare a bill to establish a mint in the Mississippi valley and for the breaking up of the mint at Carson City, Nevada, and removing the machinery to the place designated for the location of the new mint. The committee meets on Saturday to canvass the claims of several cities in the Mississippi valley, and to hear arguments thereon.

Stock in Carson City.

SURVIVORS, April 19.—Owing to the severe snow storm, the stock are dying at a fearful rate in the northern part of the country, and it is estimated that fifty per cent of the sheep will be lost. In Smoke Creek Canyon four hundred head of cattle have died of starvation.

WIND AND FIRE.

A Whole Town Blown Down, and the Ruins Consumed by Fire—Great Loss of Life.

St. Louis, April 19.—Nearly the whole town of Marshfield, Missouri, was blown down last night by a tornado. The wrecked town caught fire and burned. The telegraph wires are down.

From passengers who passed through Marshfield on the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad at 8:30 last night, some facts concerning the terrible disaster have been gleaned. At 8:30 o'clock a furious hurricane struck the place, and leveled all that part of the town lying west of Centre Square flat to the ground. The debris immediately took fire in several places, and the flames could be seen at half a dozen points by passengers on the train. Forty dead bodies have been taken out and as many more were supposed to be buried in the ruins or burned up. There are also many living still imprisoned in the debris of the fallen buildings. All the physicians of the town were killed, excepting two, and there was great need of doctors to attend the wounded, of whom it is said there were 200. A relief train with twenty physicians and nurses, and full supplies, left Springfield, Missouri, this morning for Marshfield, and probably other trains will arrive during the day. The storm was general in southwestern Missouri, and other places probably suffered damage, but as the telegraph wires are all prostrated no advices have been received. Violent hail and rain accompanied the wind. The force of the wind stripped the bark from the trees and lifted others entirely out of the ground, and telegraph poles and wires were carried hundreds of yards into the woods and tied and knotted among the limbs of the trees like cotton strings.

FIFTY MORE DEATHS REPORTED.

A telegram from Springfield says a hurricane passed a few miles south of Springfield about 7 o'clock last night, doing immense damage and killing a number of persons. Fifty deaths are reported on the St. James river, six miles south of Springfield, and a great many persons are missing. The train dispatcher of Conway, fourteen miles south of Marshfield, reports its arrival there from Springfield at 11 o'clock, and says he found a terrible looking country from a north view, seven miles west of Marshfield, to the latter point.

TWO OTHER TOWNS HEARD FROM.

It is reported that the city of Granby, about two miles southwest of Springfield, was greatly damaged, and that Warrensburg on the Missouri river, sixty-five miles this side of Kansas City, was visited by the storm and everything wrecked.

The Chronicle says that the California pen and battery are reducing 320 tons per day. The bonanza mines are yielding this ore at the rate of 270 tons per day, and when the mills get caught up they shut down a short time till ore accumulates. This is found to be more economical than to run a portion of the mill all the time.

Musical Novelties in Washington.

The banjo club meets twice a week for practice, and some of the members are very proficient, especially the Misses Bayard, Kilbourne, Ray, Medford, and Meigs. The ladies all prefer the banjo to the guitar, and some of them have pet instruments inlaid with mother-of-pearl and ornamented with silver, with daintily embroidered cases. There is also a "West End Minstrel Troupe" of young men, who not only perform on the banjo and bones, but sing very cleverly.
